ANES T H E S I A

Chemistry in the Operating Room Throughout history, people have used various substances to relieve pain. Some substances were found serendipitously, some were developed through trial and error. As early as 4200 B.C., opium was used to relieve pain. In the 19th century, ether and chloroform were used as general anesthetics. Today, a variety of modern anesthetics are used during surgical procedures.
